What is a Brand Archetype?

A brand archetype is an emotion or character type that is notably recurrent across the brand experience. In business, an archetype creates an immediate sense of familiarity, allowing its target audience to relate to a brand without having to necessarily ponder why they relate and without any need for explanation.